

Victorian Step

The Victorian Step is a vertical laid stitch. Begin working the first row moving from left to right across your canvas. As you work the row you will be moving slowing down your canvas along imaginary stair steps.

Here's where it gets really cool. As you complete this pattern of steps a secondary pattern will appear. The longer vertical stitches are more prominent in the pattern and create a series of diagonals flowing through the pattern giving you a subtle sense of movement.

This is a fun stitch that moves quickly. Consider it for clothing, mountains, landscapes.

If you want a bold diagonal pattern, you can use two opposing colors of thread, or for a more subtle look, try two different threads in the same color. The possibilities are endless!
